GENUINE TEMPORARY ENTRANT AND GENUINE STUDENT GUIDELINES

All education providers must have strategies and arrangements in place to manage the immigration risk of their students and prospective students. Applicants should read the summary of Direction 53 below. The Department of Immigration and Border Protection in Australia will assess each application for a student visa and the applicant’s intention to stay temporarily in Australia using some or all the criteria below, and any other relevant matters that may be either beneficial or unfavourable to the applicant.

Direction No 53 - Assessing the Genuine Temporary Entrant Criterion for Student Visa Applications

| The applicant’s circumstances in their home country | • The applicant’s economic situation may be an incentive not to return home
| • Political and civil unrest in the applicant’s home country
| • The extent of the applicant’s personal ties to their home country
| • Whether the applicant has sound reasons for not studying in their home country if a similar program is available
| • Military service commitments in the applicant’s home country |

| The applicant’s potential circumstances in Australia | • The extent of the applicant’s ties with Australia which may provide a strong incentive to remain in Australia – family and community ties
| • Any evidence that the student visa program is being used to circumvent the intentions of the migration program
| • Whether the student visa is being used to maintain ongoing residence
| • The applicant’s knowledge of living in Australia
| • Whether the primary and secondary applicants have entered into a relationship of concern (a contrived relationship for the purpose of applying for a student visa) |

| The applicant’s immigration history | • Including visa and travel history for Australia and other countries
| • Previous visa applications for Australia or other countries
| • Previous travels to Australia or other countries
| • Previous visa refusals and the reasons why |

| The value of the program to the applicant’s future | • The program’s consistency with the applicant’s current education level
| • Whether the program will assist the applicant to gain employment or improve employment prospects in their home country
| • Relevance of the program to the applicant’s past or future employment in their home country or a third country
| • Remuneration and career prospects in the applicant’s home country or a third country to be gained from the proposed program of study |
