University Foundation Studies – One Semester Program
Computing

Subject Descriptions

Academic English
Provides students with the linguistic skills needed for the demands of university study. Topics include writing reports, writing summaries, making oral presentations, effective reading and note-taking.

Business Studies
Provides an introduction to the Australian business environment, including external impacts and influences, legal entities, business life cycle, operation and function, introductory marketing, accounting and management.

Computer Studies
An introduction to computing, Windows, Word, Excel, Access, PowerPoint, and the web, as well as data storage management, databases design, communications, networks and introductory programming design. It is designed for computing students.

Programming Design
Introduce the principles that are required for the effective design of solutions to computer program-related problems.